TCC Global — Recruitment

Re: Data Analyst — Entry Level

Tilburg, 7 September 2026

I applied for the entry-level Data Analyst role. A year into professional BI work I still pick entry-level doors deliberately: I would rather join where I can learn a domain properly than oversell seniority I do not have. What I bring meanwhile is real: forecasting and reporting an operations floor used daily at Netvice, plus self-built analytics projects with published methods and honest backtests.

TCC's loyalty campaigns run on exactly the kind of measurement I enjoy: what changed, for whom, and is the effect real once you control for the obvious confounders. My economics training and my portfolio (franciscorau.com — all of it live and clickable) show how I approach that question.

Available immediately, based in Tilburg, and glad to walk through any piece of my work in a first call.
